

Invitation to free recorder workshop at Bury Farm with Cambridge Woodwind Makers

Dear all,

We are delighted to be hosting a weekend with Jacqueline Sorrel, (www.sorel-recorders.nl) who will be visiting the Champion workshop from her home in the the Netherlands. Jacqueline is a highly respected recorder maker, selling her instruments worldwide to discerning players.

As well as making instruments, she is undertakes re-voicing work on instruments and is keen to share the skills and knowledge required to make these adjustments.

The revised program is based on free watch and learn sessions at 10.30 and again at 2.30 on both Saturday and Sunday. Jacqueline will be demonstrating how and what makes a recorder work. How to choose a good recorder, what is involved in making and re-voicing a recorder.

Jacqueline is also available for advice and also to undertake re-voicing work on your instrument during the weekend and also offer hands on experience of recorder voicing. The morning and afternoon sessions are free and you can just turn up to view, but if you wish to have one to one attention or work done on your own instrument, please book an appointment by email at:

information@cambridgewoodwindmakers.org.

Looking forward to seeing you this weekend.
